HONOUR A PHYSICIAN

*Honour a physician with the honour due unto him for the uses which ye may have of him:
For the Lord hath created him.
For of the most High cometh healing,
And he shall receive honour of the king.
The skill of the physician shall lift up his head:
And in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.
The Lord hath created medicines out of the earth;
And he that is wise will not abhor them.
Was not the water made sweet with wood,
That the virtue thereof might be known?
And he hath given men skill,
That he might be honoured in his marvellous works.
With such doth he heal (men),
And taketh away their pains.
Of such doth the apothecary make a confection;
And of his works there is no end;
And from him is peace over all the earth.
My son, in thy sickness be not negligent:
But pray unto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.
Leave off from sin, and order thine hands aright,
And cleanse thy heart from all wickedness.
Give a sweet savour, and a memorial of fine flour;
And make a fat offering, as not being.
Then give place to the physician,
For the Lord hath created him:
Let him not go from thee,
For thou hast need of him.
There is a time when in their hands there is good success.
For they shall also pray unto the Lord, that he would prosper that,
Which they give for ease and remedy to prolong life.
He that sinneth before his Maker,
Let him fall into the hand of the physician.*

—THE WISDOM OF JESUS, THE SON OF SIRACH;
OR, ECCLESIASTICUS

The first Hospital building, named for Dr. Joseph Presley Ross, was dedicated in the late summer of 1884. It cost $32,000 and had a capacity of 45 beds. The Hamill wing was built three years later, from funds contributed mainly by Dr. Ross and Cyrus H. McCormick, Jr., in memory of Dr. R. C. Hamill. By 1890, with the completion of the Daniel A. Jones Memorial Building, the Hospital had 325 beds and was considered the finest west of the Alleghenies. The Private Pavilion was added in 1908, and in 1912 the Jane Murdoch Memorial Building was erected to replace the original Ross Building and Hamill wing. Since then additions and improvements have steadily been made, inside and out, and the most modern equipment purchased as its worth was proved. The present capacity is 400 beds.

FIFTY-FIVE YEARS OF SERVICE

THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL came into being fifty-five years ago through the desire of Rush Medical College for a hospital affording adequate opportunities for clinical instruction, the vision and faith of Dr. Joseph Presley Ross, and the generous support of public-spirited Presbyterians of Chicago. At that time there was but one general hospital in Chicago under Protestant religious management, and the west side, with half of the city's 650,000 population, had no general hospital of any kind except Cook County, which was for the indigent only.

In 1879 the faculty and trustees of Rush Medical College voted to establish a hospital, and subsequently Dr. Ross obtained a gift of $10,000 from Mr. Tuthill King, a member of the First Presbyterian Church. Other donations were obtained, and after building had begun it was decided to ask a group of Presbyterian laymen to form a corporation to take over the management of the Hospital. A charter was obtained on July 21, 1883, and on January 2, 1884, the site and hospital building, on which $25,000 had been expended, were deeded by the trustees of Rush Medical College to The Presbyterian Hospital of the City of Chicago. The deed stipulated that the Hospital medical staff should be nominated by the College faculty and that the faculty should have sole charge of clinical instruction.

Dr. R. C. Hamill and Dr. D. W. Graham, like Dr. Ross active Presbyterians and members of Rush Medical College faculty, worked in close cooperation with him in bringing the hospital enterprise to this successful outcome. All three were members of the first Board of Managers, of which Daniel K. Pearson was president and William A. Douglass secretary. Other members were Tuthill King, William Blair, John H. Barrows, C. M. Henderson, John B. Drake, Nathan Corwith, Samuel M. Moore, Henry W. King, W. H. Wells, Henry Waller, Dr. Henry M. Lyman, James M. Horton, Willis G. Craig, Cyrus H. McCormick, and Jacob Beidler.

Dr. John A. Robison, now a consulting physician on the Medical Staff, is the only surviving member of the first staff. He served as secretary of the Medical Board for sixteen years and was assistant secretary of the Board of Managers from 1885 to 1907.

Since the first patient was admitted, on August 20, 1884, more than 340,000 men, women and children have been cared for in the beds of the Hospital. These patients were admitted regardless of race, nationality or creed. Thousands unable to pay for care have received it free or paid only a fraction of its cost.

This ministry to the sick and injured has been possible through the devoted service of the Medical Staff, the Hospital personnel, and scores of men and women who have served as Managers and as members of the Woman's Board. Many of these and thousands of others have given of their means—gifts ranging all the way from the pennies of Sunday School children to sums of many thousands of dollars. To all of these The Presbyterian Hospital stands as a living memorial dedicated to the saving of human life and the relief of human suffering.

FIFTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO

THE fifty-fifth annual meeting of the Hospital was held in the Chapel of the Hospital on Wednesday, January 19, 1938, at 12:15 P. M. Luncheon was served to the forty-three members and guests present.

Mr. John McKinlay, President of the Hospital, presided, and Mr. Fred S. Booth, Assistant Secretary, recorded. Reverend Alvyn R. Hickman, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation.

The minutes of the annual meeting held January 20, 1937 were approved without reading, having been reprinted in the Hospital yearbook.

Upon report of the Nominating Committee and on motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously

RESOLVED, That the Secretary be directed to cast a unanimous ballot of the members of the Society present for the election of Messrs. Horace W. Armstrong, Arthur G. Cable, John B. Drake, R. Douglas Stuart, and J. Hall Taylor, as members of the Board of Managers in the Class of 1941, to serve for the term of four years and until the election of their successors.

The ballot was duly cast, and the persons named were declared to have been elected Managers for said term.

The report of audit for the year 1937 prepared by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, Certified Public Accountants, was not ready for presentation at the meeting, but a summary of the report appears elsewhere in this yearbook. The Assistant Secretary reported for Mr. Solomon A. Smith, Treasurer, that after setting aside the sum of $20,050 out of income for repairs and improvements commenced in 1937 which are to be completed and paid for in 1938, the Hospital closed the year with an operating profit of approximately $1,900.

Mr. Asa S. Bacon, Superintendent of the Hospital, reported briefly on the increased demands on the Hospital's staff and equipment during the year 1937. He stated that 12,108 bed patients were cared for during the year, being an increase of 605 over 1936; 117,182 days' treatment (an increase of 7,293 days) were rendered; 31,350 examinations (an increase of 8,835) were made in the Hospital examining rooms; and 920 babies (86 more than the year before) were born in the Hospital. Through the "Cheer Up" beds endowed by the Sunday Schools of the Presbytery in Chicago and vicinity, the "Tag Day," "Sunshine," and other free beds for children, it was possible to care for 786 child patients last year absolutely free. These beds are endowed at a cost of $5,000 each, and the Sunday Schools are in the process of completing the endowment of the ninth "Cheer Up Bed" at this time. Free work extended to patients unable to pay for the services received cost the Hospital $165,000 during the year.

Miss M. Helena McMillan, Superintendent of Nurses and Director of the School of Nursing, made a report for the School, which is printed elsewhere in the yearbook.

Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, newly elected President of the Woman's Board, spoke of the work of the Board in the administration of the Hospital. Its principal duties are in connection with the Social Service, four salaries being supported entirely by this Board, as well as an automobile for the use of the Social Service Department in making its many calls to homes of patients outside the Hospital. In addition to this, many articles of wearing apparel and supplies are furnished to needy families in the neighborhood. The Board also supports the Hospital library and pays the salary of the librarian. During 1937, $400 was expended for new books which were added to the library, and through the efforts of the ladies additions were made to many of the endowment funds. In closing, Mrs. Irons expressed the appreciation of the Woman's Board to the Board of Managers and the Hospital staff for their splendid cooperation.

Dr. Emmet B. Bay, Dean of Rush Medical College, spoke briefly of the work of the College during the year. There was a reduction in the number of students entering in the fall, in accordance with the new policy adopted about a year ago, which resulted in a deficit in the budget of approximately $41,000, but which made it possible to secure a better selection of entering students and to furnish the student body with a greater amount of bedside teaching.

Dr. George W. Duvall, Superintendent of the Central Free Dispensary, spoke briefly of the cordial relations existing between that institution and the Hospital and of the indispensable part each plays in the work of the other.

Dr. Vernon C. David, President of the Medical Board, spoke of the splendid cooperation between the staff, the School of Nursing, and the administrative staff of the Hospital, and pledged for the future the continued whole-hearted support of his staff to whatever policy the Board of Managers decides is for the best interests of The Presbyterian Hospital. Dr. Ernest E. Irons reiterated the pledge of loyalty of Dr. David and stated that the Board of Managers can always be assured of the full, whole-hearted support of the Hospital staff.

The President read his report and, there being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

To the Members of the Society:

FROM a purely business standpoint, we are glad to report that the facilities of the Hospital were used to a larger extent in 1937 than in the previous year. Our percentage of average occupancy has been going up steadily, as is indicated by the following figures:

1933 . . .	53.28%
1934 . . .	63.29%
1935 . . .	67.91%
1936 . . .	70.65%
1937 . . .	75.54%

It has been the aim of your officers to keep the property in excellent condition. During 1937 we spent $95,426 in repairs and renewals. In addition, we set aside an amount of $20,050 to take care of work in progress or already decided upon. Among the important additions to equipment are the new X-ray units, an adult-size respirator (iron lung), and a new electro-surgical unit, the last named having been the gift of Miss Anna P. Williams. Some of the times already determined upon for completion in 1938 are:

- the remodeling, air-conditioning, and refurbishing of the room for premature babies;
- forty baby cribs;
- a large number of crank beds and bedside tables to replace the old style equipment;
- sliding curtains (one ward to be furnished with these as quickly as possible, our aim being to gradually eliminate all the movable screens now used in wards);

- refurnishing of at least twelve private rooms;
- a certain amount of redecorating and relighting in the public spaces;
- addition of two new examining rooms on the first floor;
- a new canopy of fitting design for the main entrance;
- new elevator machinery at the Nurses' Home.

This work cannot be done as rapidly as we would like, on account of the extent to which the facilities of the Hospital are being used. It is sometimes difficult to find one room to redecorate without postponing the entrance of some prospective patient. However, we would rather have that condition prevail than one in which we could do a great deal of work quickly because the services of our hospital were not in great demand.

Some of you may have noticed the demolition of the old University of Illinois building lately occupied by the Goodwill Industries. This is the most recent step in the progress which I am confident is leading to the Medical Center Park. I believe I am well within the truth in saying that there is more intelligent and effective activity going on now in the planning of this park than there has been for years.

During the year 1936 we lost, through death, six members of our Medical Staff, so that we may consider ourselves fortunate that out of a staff of 115 members only one death took place in 1937. On February 19 Dr. Thor Rothstein, attending physician for neurology and psychiatry, passed away.

One fact about this hospital that should be better known, because it is a fact of great interest and social value, is its relation to Rush Medical College and Central Free Dispensary. Although these three institutions—College, Dispensary, and Hospital—are governed by three separate boards, they nevertheless operate as a practical unit. The faculty of the College is the staff of Dispensary and Hospital; the charity work of the Dispensary and Hospital is possible only because of the College; the educational work of the College is possible only because of the clinical material furnished by Dispensary and Hospital. In other words, no one of these institutions could make the social contribution it does without the efforts of the others. No one of them could cease without injury to the others. Neither the Dispensary nor the Hospital could do its charity work without the faculty of the College. The College, as you know, is an integral part of the University of Chicago, and I take this opportunity of expressing the appreciation of our board for the work done by the College and the Dispensary, without which the Hospital would not be what it is.

The charity work of this triune, College-Dispensary-Hospital, is of incalculable social value. In the Dispensary last year 177,000 visits were made—two years ago 200,000 visits—by people who were able to come in on their own feet. While there is a registration fee of 50c a visit for adults and less for children and infants, a large part of this is never paid. Of the drugs supplied, 85 per cent of all prescriptions are filled free. In the case of the Hospital, last year 25,326 patient days were spent there by people who were unable to pay a penny—not to mention more thousands of patient days that were only partially paid for. All this charity work is possible only because of the free gift of thousands of hours of professional skill by the physicians and surgeons of our staff, who are among the leaders of their profession in our city.

So far as the Hospital's part of this charity work is concerned, it is financially possible only because of the stream of contributions of which we are the grateful recipients from our generous friends. These take the form of gifts to our General Endowment Fund, gifts for specific purposes, and gifts that we are able to use as the board's wisdom dictates. A good many years ago there was established the Centenary Fund, to which friends of the Hospital contribute $100 each or multiples thereof. Every year this has amounted to a substantial sum, the year 1937 being no exception, when 43 contributors gave a total of $10,585.

It shall be our constant aim to keep the standard of the Hospital up to the high mark heretofore set, and in that way merit the continued generosity of those of our friends who are able to contribute and thus make it possible for us to do the large charity work we are so anxious to do.

ENDOWED NURSES CARE FOR SERIOUSLY ILL WARD PATIENTS

HAVE you ever come back from oblivion, floundering in a sea of pain, and found by your bedside a kindly person in a white uniform who knew exactly what to do to ease the suffering a little, whose presence gave you anchorage and reassurance? Or have you, perhaps, waged a battle with pneumonia or other acute disease, a capable nurse always at your side carrying out the doctor's orders, ministering to your physical comfort and giving you the courage you so greatly needed?

One young woman who had this ministry from a private nurse during a serious illness appreciated it so deeply that, following her recovery, she took steps to insure such care for patients who might lack the money to pay for the services of a special nurse. Thus it came about that funds for the first endowed nurse were given to The Presbyterian Hospital, in March 1917, by Miss Helen North. Looking back, we find that during the twenty years ended December 31, 1937 the Helen North Endowed Nurse gave special nursing care to 4,598 patients.

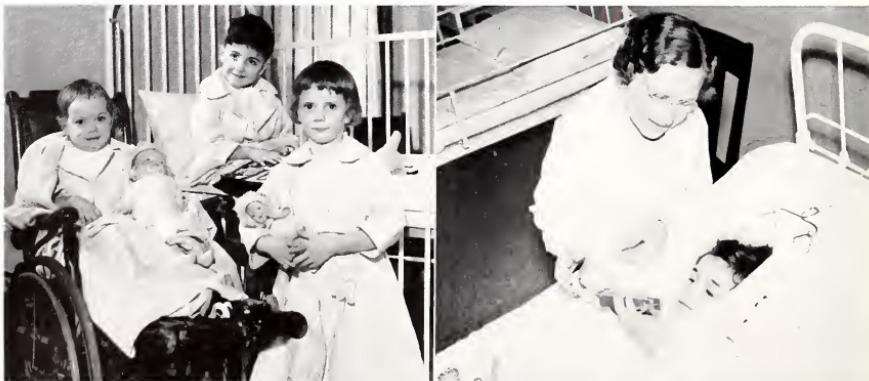

The Gladys Foster Nurse Endowment was established in memory of a student nurse who died during the 1918 influenza epidemic; the fund was started by her associates in the School of Nursing and completed by gifts from many others, including $10,000 from Miss Mary Reed and other members of the Woman's Board. The Ernest A. Hamill Nurse Endowment (1930) is Mrs. Hamill's memorial to her husband. The Luella Pearson Molloy Nurse Endowment (1933) supports one nurse and pays part of the salary of another, the surplus income from the Gladys Foster Fund paying the balance. Since December 1933, an annual contribution sufficient to maintain one nurse has come to the Hospital from Mr. T. Kenneth Boyd.

Up to the end of 1937, these six nurses had cared for a total of 12,143 patients!

In many instances the services of a special nurse are required for only the day or night following an operation or during the acute stage of a serious illness. In other cases special care is needed for many days and nights in order to save the patient's life or allay great suffering.

Because hundreds of patients each year are cared for entirely free and a great many more are admitted who can pay only part of the cost of their hospitalization, more endowed and maintained nurses are urgently needed. A donation of $35,000 endows a graduate nurse in perpetuity; $1,500 provides maintenance for a year.

Cheer Up and other child's free bed endowments help to restore hundreds to health each year

THE HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL TEACHING

THE Presbyterian Hospital is approved by the American Medical Association for the training of interns and the postgraduate training of resident doctors in various medical and surgical specialties. Through its affiliation with Rush Medical College, undergraduate students of that school are given clinical instruction in the Hospital.

Since the Hospital was opened to patients in 1884, 649 interns and 77 resident doctors have received training in the institution. Many others, not serving as members of the regular intern or resident staff, have received training as assistants to Attending Staff men or through special short term appointments on various services.

Many distinguished names are found on the list of former Presbyterian interns and residents. Four are deans of well-known medical schools and one is a former dean. At least 161 hold teaching positions in medical schools—86 on the faculty of Rush Medical College and 75 in other medical colleges. There are 66 on the present Attending Staff of The Presbyterian Hospital. Two are on the editorial staff of the Journal of the American Medical Association. Other former interns and residents are nationally known as specialists in various branches of medicine and surgery. Many are filling the indispensable role of general practitioners, in small towns as well as large cities. Some are in foreign mission fields and others have secular medical appointments in distant countries. Several are officers of high rank in the Army, Navy, and U. S. Public Health Service, and—indicative of newer fields for the practitioner—one man is a “flightsurgeon” for the U. S. Bureau of Air Commerce and several air lines.

SCHOOL OF NURSING OF THE

WHEN The Presbyterian Hospital established its school for nurses thirty-five years ago, advanced standards of organization and curriculum were adopted, and through the years the School of Nursing has sought to keep pace with the ever enlarging scope of nursing education. From the beginning the School has had the eight-hour day for student nurses, the six-month preliminary course, and the requirement that all students admitted have at least a high school education.

Miss M. Helena McMillan organized the School and is still its director. In 1936 she was awarded the Walter Burns Saunders Medal for Distinguished Service in the Cause of Nursing. This medal, established in 1930 by William L. Saunders II of Philadelphia, is awarded annually by a committee composed of the presidents of the three national nursing organizations and Mr. Saunders.

At the end of 1937 graduates totaled 1,441. Many of these hold important executive, supervisory, and teaching positions in large hospitals and schools of nursing; several head departments of nursing education in large universities. Of those known to be in active work, 275 hold institutional positions; 200 are doing private duty nursing; 112 are engaged in public health nursing; other activities include industrial nursing, foreign missionary nursing, medicine, physiotherapy, laboratory and X-ray work, editorial work, and the new career of airline stewardess.

Sprague Home for Nurses was erected in 1913. It cost $350,000 and was made possible by gifts from the friends of Mr. O. S. A. Sprague and the estate of Mr. Albert A. Sprague, and a bequest left by Mrs. A. A. Sprague. It is the home of both the School of Nursing and the student body and also houses members of the hospital graduate nursing staff. Meals are served in eight relays for a daily average of 262 persons. Enlarged library facilities and a gymnasium for student health and recreational purposes are among the present needs of the School.

The small endowment thus far accumulated for the School of Nursing has been a factor in the maintenance of high educational standards, and those who wish to aid education in a field of far-reaching importance to human welfare are invited to contribute to this fund.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING

Sprague Home for Nurses

THE year 1937 has shown some progress in better teaching of our students and, I trust, better nursing for our patients. To secure the latter, a larger number of graduate nurses were employed for general duty and, while positions elsewhere and other causes do necessitate changes in this group, there is more stability than with an entirely untried and untrained student personnel to carry the ever increasingly responsible techniques of nursing demanded by modern medicine.

To meet the trends in nursing education, to comply with the requirements of registration for our graduates in Illinois, New York, and the other states, and to consider curriculum recommendations from the national nursing organization, call for constant study of our present methods and at times changes or additions to our program of instruction.

To the course already broadened by affiliations with the Central Free Dispensary, the Municipal Contagious Disease Hospital, and the Cook County Hospital for certain nursing experience not available in The Presbyterian Hospital, there was added to the School staff November 1 an experienced instructor in Public Health Nursing. The object of this is to develop in our students a more intelligent understanding of the sick as people with homes, families, and anxieties; to improve the nursing for our hospital patients; and to enable our nurses to more easily adapt themselves to the care of patients in their own homes.

The average total number of students in the School for the year has been 125; of graduate nurses employed, 140. Of these, an average of 124 graduates and 79 students have been on duty in The Presbyterian Hospital. An average of 67 staff members and 116 student nurses have been in residence, filling to capacity the 183 beds available in the Sprague Home.

An average of 69 graduate special duty nurses gave 25,541 days to hospital patients, as against 55 graduates and 19,874 days in 1936.

Of the students affiliating for special experience, 41 have given 1,824 days' service in the Central Free Dispensary, where a daily average of 5 are on duty; 34 have given 514 days in the out-obstetrical department maintained jointly by Rush Medical College, Presbyterian Hospital, and Central Free Dispensary; 36 have given 531 days in the pre-natal clinic of Presbyterian Hospital and Rush Medical College; 34 assigned to Municipal Contagious Disease Hospital, 1,713 days; 6 in the neurological and psychiatric departments of the Cook County Hospital, 368 days. To the Infant Clinic of Rush Medical College at the Central Free Dispensary, 50 days have been contributed.

The School is deeply grateful to the members of the Hospital Medical Staff for valuable and generous assistance in bedside and classroom instruction of our students, without which it would be impossible to carry out the curriculum, and to Dr. L. C. Gatewood and Dr. E. M. Miller and other staff members for medical and surgical care of students.

We extend our best thanks also to the Woman's Board for scholarships and loans granted to students, for maintaining the fortnightly choral practice, and for their gift of $122.02 to buy reference books for the School Library; to Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill for her usual gift of $225 for the Christmas activities at Sprague Home; to the Board of Managers for eight books of Chicago Symphony Orchestra tickets; to the Alumnae Association for a gift of silver for the tea table and $65 for library books; to the 1937 graduating class for their gift of modern furniture for the lobby in Sprague Home; to all hospital and non-hospital associates who supervise and instruct our students; and to all other friends of the School.

Respectfully submitted,

M. HELENA McMILLAN,
Director, School of Nursing and Nursing Service

THE WOMAN'S BOARD OF THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL

WITHIN a few months after the incorporation in July 1883 of the Presbyterian Hospital Society, women of the Presbyterian churches began to work in the interest of the Hospital, and in May 1884 a Hospital Ladies' Aid Society was formed. Its first accomplishment was to provide all the furnishings for the new building. Mrs. David W. Graham, still active as Honorary President of the Woman's Board, is the only surviving member of the original group, which had seventy-six members representing seventeen churches and the Theological Seminary.

After twenty-five years the Ladies' Aid Society changed its name to Woman's Auxiliary Board and eventually came to be known as the Woman's Board of The Presbyterian Hospital, its present legal title. Including in its membership representative women of the Presbyterian churches, wives of Hospital Medical Staff members, and many public-spirited non-Presbyterian women, this organization has been ever on the alert to assist the Hospital.

By their vision and indefatigable effort the women have made possible many improvements in Hospital service and facilities. The Ladies' Aid Society had a Library Committee from the start, and our Hospital was the first to make an affiliation with the Chicago Public Library for deposit station service. A patients' library of six thousand volumes has been built up, mainly through donations of books and sales of those that could not be used, and since 1929 the Woman's Board has paid the salary of a trained librarian. Ours is one of the few voluntary hospitals in the country having a completely organized library service for patients with a full-time trained librarian.

Long before the terms social service and medical social worker were coined, Mrs. Harriet A. Jones left a bequest of $10,000 the income from which was to be used to assist needy patients following their discharge from the Hospital. Out of this beginning developed the Social Service Department, established by the Woman's Board in 1908, the first such department organized in any Chicago hospital. The women have continued to support this department, paying the salaries of trained medical social workers and increasing the staff as needed. They also provide volunteers to do clerical and other routine work, and assist the department in various ways.

Occupational therapy was introduced into the Hospital in 1917, when the Woman's Board employed a trained worker to demonstrate its value. The Hospital took over the support of the department, but the women have continued to assist the work, providing equipment and supplies from time to time.

A member of the Woman's Board presented the Hospital with the first electrocardiograph (1914) installed in any institution in Chicago, providing also a fund for research in cardiac disease, which made possible pioneer work in this field by members of the Medical Staff.

The John Simpson, Jr. Milk Laboratory, affording the finest available facilities for the preparation of bacteria-free feedings for infants, was given to the Hospital in 1935 by a member of the Woman's Board.

Endowments for various hospital purposes given by members of the Woman's Board, or obtained largely through their efforts, now total $467,740.71. These include endowments which support nine Cheer Up Beds, three Tag Day Beds, and one Sunshine Bed for free care of children; the Room for Ministers and Missionaries, and other endowed rooms; the Harriet A. Jones and Edith Newell Childs Social Service Funds; five special nurses, as mentioned elsewhere in this report; the Linen Fund; and various other funds which count for much in the Hospital's ministry to the sick. Recently the Board has started a Babies' Alumni, in which parents or other relatives are asked to enroll babies born in the Hospital, paying dues of a dollar or more a year toward a fund to be used for the support of free beds in the maternity ward.

The Board has contributed $25,000 to the School of Nursing Endowment, and for many years has provided scholarships and loans for students in the School of Nursing. Recently two board members gave $1,100 to establish the M. H. McMillan Revolving Loan Fund for Nurses.

Furnishings for the Hospital and for Sprague Home, books for the School of Nursing library, delicacies for ward patients, flowers for the Sunday services in the chapel, and entertainments for patients are provided from year to year by the Woman's Board, which also enlists hundreds of women in the work of sewing and knitting for the Hospital and for needy patients.

For the year 1937 the enrollment was 230 members, with 41 churches of the Chicago Presbytery represented.
